
Lenovo Onekey Recovery Windows 7 32-bit Iso 51 __LINK__

OneKey Recovery #2 is software that Lenovo advised us to remove prior to Windows 10. . I recently installed Windows 7 Ultimate 64-bit on a Sony Vaio. On Windows 10 (or any later version), I can only sign in with a Lenovo account. On Windows 7, I could log in with any account. This is not a problem, I can log in with a Lenovo account, but I'm wondering why I can't log in with a Microsoft account. I'm wondering if it's because Windows 10 installs this security update that requires me to switch to a Lenovo account or if it's a more general security question.
